Kaukauna May Buy Second Patrol Car

Mayor Will Contact CNW Railway to Clarify Street Plans

KAUKAUNA — The common council Tuesday night authorized the finance committee to consider purchase of a second patrol car and to include the item in the 1963 budget.

The chief of police is to provide the committee with an estimate of costs. The possibility of securing a station wagon which could also serve as a second ambulance, although primarily a police car, and installing a 2-way radio on the 3-wheel motorcycle will also be studied.

The health and recreation committee was instructed to have city personnel cut underbrush and weeds in city park land about Green Bay Road. An assessment of $150 per abutting front was set for installation of sanitary sewer on La Verne Lane.

Dodge Street Curve

Aldermen voted to have the mayor contact the Chicago and North Western Railway to ascertain whether Dodge Street could be widened at the area near the first railway crossing thus eliminating much of a severe curve in the area near the swimming pool and new athletic field.

The utility commission was authorized to install a street light on Fifth Street between Main and Reaume Avenues and in the area of 169 McKinley Street. The utility was also instructed to install a flasher light at the most advantageous location at Main Avenue and Fifth Street.

The chief of police was instructed to contact authorities at Trinity Lutheran School to determine the possibility of erecting portable barricades in the Tobacour and Augustine Street area for the safety of children attending school. It was indicated that cars parked in the school vicinity create a hazard.

K of C Plans Dinner, Dance

Knights to Mark Columbus Day With Special Events

The Knights of Columbus Councils 607 and 4802 of Appleton will have the annual Landing Day dinner and dance Saturday, Oct. 13, at the Silver Dome in Greenville.

Past state deputy Robert Bodden will be the main speaker. The dinner will be at 6:30 p.m., followed by dancing to the music of Jimmy James.

The Landing Day festivities commemorate the sighting of the New World by Christopher Columbus on Oct. 12, 1492, following a 33-day journey.

Co-chairmen for the Landing Day program are Joseph Ferris, 836 S. Christine St., and Thomas Shandonay, Neenah, of Council 607, and Ralph DeDecker, of Council 4802.

Cosmetologists Plan 31st State Convention

The Wisconsin Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association Inc. will hold its 31st annual convention and trade show Oct. 14 and 15 at the Schroeder Hotel in Milwaukee. About 2,500 cosmetologists are expected to attend.

Emile Joseph of Detroit, Mich., a member of the official hair fashion committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, will be featured as the guest artist. He and members of the Wisconsin hair fashion committee will present interpretations of the fall and winter style trends.

Contests in hairstyling and hair-shaping and classes and demonstrations in new techniques also are scheduled.

$40 Parochial Tax Credit Requested

Educational Group Wants Refund on State Income Levy

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Parents of children attending non-public schools would receive a $40 state income tax deduction credit for each child under a proposed state law, Warren B. O'Connor, Milwaukee, told a meeting of the Green Bay chapter of Citizens for Educational Freedom (CEF) Tuesday night.

The tax credit proposal will be introduced in the new state legislature convening in January, the speaker told about 50 persons attending the meeting at the WBAV auditorium.

O'Connor, a Milwaukee real estate developer who is the father of seven children attending parochial schools and state CEF president, said such a tax credit is basic civil and constitutional right of parents sending their children to independent, private schools.

"It is bad enough to deprive children of educational tax benefits because they do not attend state-controlled schools," O'Connor said, "but to count them in for a share that is then assigned to other children is doubly discriminatory."

The $40 state income tax credit for each child attending non-public elementary and high schools is based on minimum state aids now going to public school districts.

Gives Grant

On the basis of the school census each year covering all children from 4 to 19 years old, the State Department of Public Instruction gives a minimum grant of $40 for each child to local public school boards.

O'Connor emphasized that 26 percent of the school children in the state attending independent schools do not receive benefits from the local education tax dollars their parents pay and then are counted in for the state grants to public schools.

The speaker said that there are 234,000 children attending Catholic grade and high schools in the state, 10,000 children in Lutheran schools and 1,000 in Adventist schools.

"We are emphasizing that the parents of these children are entitled to a fair and equal share of our education tax dollars and also have the full constitutional right to send their children to schools of their free choice without a financial penalty," O'Connor stated.

The state income tax credit plan, the speaker estimated, would provide about $7 million annually to parents of independent school children.

'Good Chance'

O'Connor said the income tax credit has "a good chance" of passing the state legislature. He said that both candidates for governor, Republican Philip Kuehn and Democrat John W. Reynolds, are in favor of the plan and also more than one-third of the present state senators and assemblymen.

The speaker said the CEF organization is growing rapidly in Wisconsin and is prepared to rally extensive public support for the education aid plan.

The organization whose national headquarters are in St. Louis, Mo., has nine chapters in the state with more than 2,000 dues-paying members, largely parents of children attending non-public schools.

O'Connor also said there is little chance that the congress will pass any massive federal aid to children attending private schools.

The speaker emphasized that CEF is a political action alerting group.

"We are in favor of strict separation of church and state," he said, "but are opposed to separation of educational tax benefits from children by constitutional right to send them to a non-public school."

Veterans' Officer To Talk to CPAs

Francis G. Heesacker, Outagamie County veterans service officer, will discuss aids and benefits available to veterans at a meeting of the Appleton Society of Certified Public Accountants Thursday at the YMCA.

His talk will cover medical, retirement and other welfare aids and benefits for veterans.

The C.P.A. Society, composed of members who work or live in Appleton, will start its 10th consecutive year of operation with this meeting, Raymond J. Pusch, schools of their free choice with-

Parking Lot Ordinance Being Sought

The city hall parking area is going to be officially designated as a municipal parking lot, according to a recommendation made Tuesday by the board of public works.

The lot, described by city officials as "the biggest municipal headache we have had for years," has been the subject of a continuing controversy.

In recommending that the council put the lot under ordinance, the board paved the way for the city to establish parking regulations for the lot and the ability to enforce them—something it lacks under the existing first-come, first-served parking arrangement.

Once the council puts the lot under ordinance, it will be the task of the public safety committee to designate who can make use of the parking facility.

One recommendation has been made by the city planner to reserve it for city employee parking. Other alternatives are to have it for citizen parking only, or a combination of employee-citizen parking.

As the board was meeting at city hall, the lot was jammed with cars, including seven that were double parked.

Snow Loaders Need Repair

Appleton Board Decides to Buy New Machine Soon

The Appleton board of public works got bad news Tuesday afternoon—the city has no operable snowloaders and the season's first snowfall could come in a matter of weeks.

Acting Director of Public Works, Henry Crowe told the board both of the city's snowloaders were disabled last winter and no work has been done on them during the last six months.

"The city needs a snowloader," was the way Crowe gently broke the news. He said one machine was beyond repair while the other needed work.

Aldermen on the board criticized the fact that the disabled snowloaders were not repaired during the summer.

It was agreed the only solution now was to buy a new snowloader which will cost from $16,000 to $23,000. A snowloader is used for a variety of things and sees heavy duty.

The common council will be asked to give approval to purchasing a new unit when it meets tonight.

Voters Urged To Register

KIMBERLY — Persons planning to vote in the November election and who have not yet been registered must register in advance at the office of the village clerk or will not be permitted to vote, according to Mrs. Katherine Lochschmidt, clerk.

Persons in the village were required to register in advance for the first time last year after the census revealed the population was over the 5,000 mark. The clerk has been attempting at each election to stimulate registrations, but reports difficulty in getting to some people.

The September election showed 1,843 registered voters and based on previous elections when no advance registration was necessary, about 600 persons have still to be registered.

Rag in Car Motor Leads to Fire Run

KAUKAUNA — Firemen were called at 1:15 p.m. Monday to extinguish a fire in the motor of a car owned by William Lambie, 300 Taylor St., Kaukauna.

Firemen found a rag had been left on the motor and began smoldering. No chemicals were needed as firemen merely removed the source of the trouble.

No Change in Pairing Cities at CAB Hearing

Raw Sewage Flows Into Appleton From 40 Different Points

Sanitarian Calls Situation Bad; City, State Officials Disturbed

Human contamination is flowing into the city of Appleton from at least 40 different points outside the city limits, causing a serious health menace which could trigger epidemics.

The warning was served today by city officials during a meeting of the municipal board of health.

The city hall local and state officials indicated they are disturbed over the situation and legal action may be taken.

Sanitarian William Moldenhauer reported that a survey of the entire fringe area of Appleton during the past summer pinpointed the trouble spots. The areas, outside the city, are served by individual septic tanks in most instances and old-fashioned outdoor toilet facilities in others.

It was disclosed by Moldenhauer that "an extremely bad situation" is being caused in the city by a stream in the Town of Menasha which flows into Appleton and carries the pollution with it.

Open Ditches

"In some instances in that area we found effluent in open ditches," Moldenhauer reported. He said the situation would be remedied, however, once the Town of Menasha puts a new treatment plant into operation sometime in 1963.

Moldenhauer said the Town of Grand Chute was responsible for another bad situation which exists on N Division street where raw sewage is flowing into a city storm sewer. Most of the contamination, according to Moldenhauer, is coming from homes on Northland Avenue.

Bruce Stevens, engineer for the state board of health told the city group an order had been issued to have a sanitary sewer district created in the township.

In addition to sewage, garbage is being thrown in the area by township residents, according to the extensive report.

The flowage of raw sewage into the city from the perimeter becomes heavy during and following a rain.

No Control

Moldenhauer said the City of Appleton has done a good job in separating storm and sanitary wastes, but could not control the flowage from the suburbs.

There were three areas within the Appleton city limits where human contamination was found. They are on N Mason Street, Newberry Road and E. South River.

Housewife Says 'Nuts' to This Unwanted Visitor

Police were called about 6 p.m. Tuesday to the home of Mrs. Yvonne McBain, 89 Cherry Court, and were asked to help her remove an unwelcome visitor from her home.

The visitor, according to police, had already broken dishes and knocked over a lamp. Mrs. McBain said she didn't know where the visitor came from, only that she heard a loud crash near the rear of her home and suddenly the visitor was there.

Policeman Carl Bork arrived at the home and found the visitor running from room to room. He gave chase and finally cornered him near the front door. The visitor gave up and left. Bork reported, and ran outdoors where squirrels belong.

Driver Trapped For 20 Minutes In Cab of Truck

A Milwaukee man who was trapped 20 minutes in the cab of his semi-truck was rushed unconscious to Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah, about 11:30 a.m. today, after he drove off the road on State 45 about one mile south of Gillingham Corners.

Injured was Roy Edmund Bolter, 26. He was driving south on State 45 when he veered off the road and hit a tree. The cab was twisted from the unloaded trailer and overturned.

A wrecker at the scene used hydraulic jacks to free Bolter from the cab. He was taken to the hospital by the Mohr Ambulance Service.

Appleton Will be Linked With Oshkosh for Future Airline Service to Fox River Valley

BY JAMES BARVELT

Post-Crescent News Service

WASHINGTON — Civil Aeronautics Board hearings on regional air service will be conducted to the letter of the CAB order pairing cities.

That was the statement Tuesday of E. T. Stodola, CAB examiner, at a pre-hearing conference attended by more than 30 lawyers and others representing some 13 cities in Wisconsin, including Appleton, Oshkosh, Green Bay, Clintonville and Neenah-Menasha.

It means that the hearings, scheduled to be held in one or two as yet undesignated cities in Wisconsin early in 1963, will deal with the regional pairs of cities previously specified. In the hearing call, Appleton and Oshkosh were paired. So were Green Bay and Clintonville.

'Not Green Bay'

"We shall consider Appleton-Oshkosh being served through one airport, not consider whether they should be served through Green Bay," Stodola said as an example.

Before the pre-hearing conference, there had been some talk of asking that Appleton be included in the Green Bay-Clintonville area study. Winnebago and Brown County officials talked over the possibility of joining forces in their arguments but decided not to make a formal arrangement.

Some of the ground rules, but not very many, were agreed upon Tuesday for the coming wrangle among Wisconsin cities over how to be served in the future by North Central Airlines.

The state governments of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan also responded to the call for a pre-hearing conference.

The conference was supposed to produce agreement on issues for the coming hearing. But such a multitude of suggestions was produced that E. T. Stodola, CAB examiner for the case, set dates later in the month for all parties to submit the issues as they see them.

The issues are to be submitted by Oct. 11 with Oct. 22 set for answers of parties in conflict. The actual hearing probably will not be held until January.

The major arguments, it was clear, will be over service for the Fox Valley, four Wisconsin Valley cities, and the adjacent cities of La Crosse and Winona, Minn.

Single Field

The CAB, together with the Federal Aviation Agency, in May, 1961, issued a policy statement questioning whether better future airline service with larger planes and at a savings to the taxpayer would not result from commercial service to a single field for adjacent cities.

The North Central hearings are the fourth instituted under this concept. Hearings are in progress.

House-Senate Group Okays New Tax Bill

Byrnes Member of Committee Working Out Final Details

BY FRANCES MC KUSICK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The House Tuesday approved the tax revision conference report, which Rep. John W. Byrnes, R. Green Bay, said contained many of the same proposals made by Republicans when the bill originally was debated on the House floor.

Three major changes in the House bill were incorporated in the Senate measure, and remaining in the final conference report, according to the Green Bay Republican, who was a member of the Senate-House conference Committee.

The first change, according to the Congressman, was the elimination of the House provision requiring that tax on dividends and interest on savings accounts be withheld at the source, and forwarded to the Internal Revenue service.

Go' Provision

However, there is a provision asking for the reporting of the amounts of dividends or interest extended the taxpayer, plus a taxpayer number system and a processing system which eliminates the need of withholding the amount of the tax from the dividend check, or interest accrual, he reported.

The second change in the conference report over the House bill was the closing up of the "biggest loophole" in the bill, namely one involving investment credit.

Under the terms of the House bill a firm could get 7 per cent tax credit on the amount paid for new equipment, plus depreciation on the entire amount. Under the conference report, the depreciation could only be taken on the amount left after deducting the amount of the 7 per cent tax credit.

Changed Date

But House conferees insisted on the Jan. 1 effective date, and Byrnes estimated that this retroactive tax allowance would cost the U.S. Treasury about $1 billion in revenue loss.

"The President accused Republicans of trying to 'gut' the tax bill when it was first debated late in March," Byrnes said. "But the final legislation now contains many things for which we fought unsuccessfully at that time, so the bill is not gutted, but it is improved."

He concluded that "the overall" legislation "as quite 'well balanced,'" and that revenue lost through the retroactive depreciation in all-wance provision would, in a measure, be recaptured through other channels.

Menasha Council OK's Shore Change

Action's Validity Depends on Firm's Responsibility

MENASHA — A proposal by the Neenah-Menasha Sewerage Commission to permit altering of a section of the eastern shoreline of Little Lake Butte des Morts — at the western extremity of Madison, Fox and Butte des Morts Streets — was approved at Tuesday night's meeting of the Menasha Council.

The council in allowing the proposal, however, specified that validity of the action was contingent upon the joint Sewerage Commission's contract assurance that responsibility for necessary street extensions, boat landing and storm sewer extensions would be shouldered by the Commission.

Objections

Several aldermen voiced objection to passage of the proposal, but Mayor John L. Klein assured them that it was his understanding that Menasha would not be left holding the bag if the proposal was adopted contingent upon a detailed contract being obtained from the commission.

Purpose of the project, Klein explained to the council would be to alter the shoreline to alleviate an unsanitary refuse-collecting situation in the specified area. "I'm sure a contract can be drawn up between Menasha and the Commission," Klein concluded, "that would absolve the city from any financial responsibility for making the necessary street and storm extensions and providing for a boat landing once the shoreline has been altered by filling in behind a retaining wall."

Funeral Rites Planned for NU Student

MENASHA — Funeral services for Miss Kay Halversen, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. I. Halversen, 235 Billard Court, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Brown Funeral Chapel. The Rev. John C. Hanchett, pastor of First Congregational Church, will conduct the services. Burial will be in Highland Memorial Park, Appleton. Friends may call at the funeral home after 3 p.m. today.

A memorial is being established in memory of the Northwestern University senior who died Monday morning at Evanston, Ill., apparently of an accidental overdose of sleeping pills.

Miss Halversen was born March 6, 1942, at Iron Mountain, Mich., and graduated from Menasha High School in 1959. She would have graduated from Northwestern University in December with a major in speech. She was the sister, and a grandmother.

Need Parking Space

Central Paper Buys Christoph Property

MENASHA — The recent purchase by Central Paper Company of the Christoph OK Lumber Company property on Manitowish Street should provide future alleviation of parking problems in that area, Mayor John L. Klein revealed to the Menasha Council Tuesday night.

The purchase of the lumber company property by Central Paper should allow the latter firm to go ahead with its expansion plans, Klein explained further, thus solving the parking problem which now confronts the paper company on Fourth Street, just west of Manitowish.

Central Paper facilities are now located directly south of Fourth Street, between Manitowish and De Pere Streets. Because of space west to De Pere, and railroad trackage to the south, the only possible room for Central Paper Company expansion is eastward across Manitowish Street in the area recently purchased from Christoph Lumber Company.

The lumber company property bound on the north by Sheboygan Street and on the west by Manitowish Street, encompasses an area approximately 175 by 400 feet.

Eighteen French Paper Merchants toured several Fox Cities paper mills today and Tuesday. The group is viewing loading operations at the Bergstrom Paper Co., Neenah. Neenah School District Seeks $2.4 Million 1963 Budget

Board Will Submit Request to City Council, Towns for Approval

BY ALLAN EKVALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — An operating budget of $2,427,603 is being asked for the 1963 operations of the Neenah Joint School District, school officials announced today. Revisions to the proposed budget were made at Monday night's board of education meeting.

The proposed budget is being submitted to the Neenah council and the town chairmen of the Towns of Neenah, Menasha, Clayton and Vinland for their review.

In addition to the $2.4 million operating budget is a debt service of $529,898, which represents the bonded indebtedness and loans secured by the city and the former rural school districts, making a total budget of $2,957,501. The proposed tax levy to meet the operating budget and debt service is $2,212.166.

Since this is the first full year for the new joint school district,

Youth Admits Taking $24 in Store Break-in

A 16-year-old Kimberly youth is scheduled to be arraigned in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2, Friday, in connection with a burglary at the Allegott Plumbing Supply firm, 4725 E. Wisconsin Ave. A warrant was to be issued sometime today.

The youth told Sheriff Lt. Jack Frenzel he entered the shop about 8:30 p.m. Thursday through a rear window which he broke. The youth said he took about $24 from the cash register.

The youth, a former employee at the firm, was questioned by Frenzel Friday and confessed Tuesday. The money was recovered and returned to the plumbing firm. Juvenile court has waived jurisdiction.

recipient of two scholarships, one from Northwestern University and the other the Menasha-Hatfield Miner Scholarship. She was a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority and of the First Congregational Church of Menasha.

Order Crackdown for Failing to Pay Fines

MENASHA — A crackdown on the specified fine in the official persons who are delinquent in police envelope, drop the envelope, paying fines for parking meter on containing the fine into one violations will begin in Menasha of th Menasha Fine-O-Meter tomorrow, according to Chief of Police Lester Clark.

Chief Clark explained any per- required fine to the police station who is delinquent in the pay- tion in person."

Usually first offenders of park- ing meter violations are fined 50 cents, Chief Clark emphasized, but if they are found delinquent in paying that fine they will be assessed $1.

The regular schedule of fines charges, according to the clerk-treasurer.

The clerk's office will be open until 7:30 p.m. Friday for the convenience of persons unable to pay bills during normal office hours.

as part of the 1963 budget but to instead convert to natural gas sometime in 1964 since gas will be extended to that area late this year.

Budgeted for instruction costs next year is $1,570,865. This includes the salaries for from 15 to 18 additional teachers needed next year to meet the anticipated enrollment. Enrollment this fall totals 5,133, an increase of 364 pupils. Estimated enrollment next fall is 5,500.

In addition to the salaries of the new teachers is the cost of instructional materials for the increased student population and salary increases granted the teachers last spring which became effective in September.

General control costs estimated at $63,951 are down slightly because the total costs for the individual school districts included supervision costs and board salaries for the period prior to the consolidation.

Operation costs of $262,944 include the cost of operating one more school, the Coolidge elementary school and the custodial services for that school. Maintenance costs, budgeted at $94,555, are about the same as the total for this year.

Seek Two New Buses

Auxiliary services are budgeted at $88,473 and transportation expenses are figured at $67,537. Purchase of two new buses, which had been deferred for the last two years is planned in the 1963 budget. Community service budget is $8,600 and includes an expansion of the summer school program at the high school and an extension of that program into the elementary level.

Capital outlay costs were figured at $81,664 for next year, one through taxes, if this proposed budget is approved by the Council and town chairmen.

The total raised this year by the City of Neenah and by the different rural school districts came to $1,710,298, with the debt service amounts being included.

However, the Board of Education pointed out, the rural school districts had prepared budgets and raised taxes to cover only the part of their school operations up to June 30. They had not provided funds for the last six months of school operations of this year.

Must Borrow $127,000

This means that the school district must borrow close to $127,000 in December to meet its costs for this year.

Residents of the rural districts, the Board indicated, will pay their proportionate share of the 1963 school budget plus their share of the operating costs of the joint school district for the last six months of this year. Their taxes for this last school year had been down from that of previous years because of their individual rural school budgets covering only a six-months operation.

Board members Monday night decided not to install a 10,000 gallon oil tank at Lakeview School.

Service stations entered between midnight and 5 a.m. were Fred's Service, 1225 E. Wisconsin Ave., the Zephyr Service station, 1109 E. Wisconsin Ave., and Don's Sinclair Service, 533 N. Richmond St. The Rougeau Super Market, 1203 E. Wisconsin Ave. also reported damage and coins taken from a pop machine.

Police are also investigating a break-in at the Sun Dial Laundry, 1326A N. Meade St., in which 14 bottles of soft drinks were taken.

Burglars broke into soft drink machines at three north side service stations and a super market early today, taking approximately $15 in small change from the machines.

A padlock was broken on the furnace room door at the Sun Dial Laundry, where thirsty burglars took the bottles of soda but did no other damage, police said.

Deadline Set to Pay Village Water Bills

Stodola of plans for a new airport with a $2.8-million bond issue.

Build Airport

"As of next Friday, we are going to build another airport. The county board voted to go ahead and build the airport without state or federal aid. I want that clearly understood," he said.

Stodola noted an FAA policy against any fiscal grants to new airports until the question of area commercial service was answered. Callin questioned this on grounds of grants for general aviation needs.

Dist. Atty. Jack Steinbiller, representing Winnebago County, said Oshkosh would show "the consequences of a new site."

"This is very vital information when we are talking about new sites, in particular when you consider the federal investment in existing airports," he said.

Robert De Renzo represented the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce and the NM Taxpayers Association but did not become a formal party. He said his organization might come in later.

A petition prepared by De Renzo noted that NM pays about half the taxes of Winnebago County and contributes much of the air traffic at Oshkosh. It said doubt on expansion of the Oshkosh airport was cast by a study of Elgin Fisher and Associates and asked the CAB in order Winnebago County to get an expert survey on whether its airport has expansion potential.

The petition, however, was not filed Tuesday. De Renzo said it represented the views of his organizations before they could take an informed side in the Appleton-Oshkosh conflict.

John Bowers, an assistant attorney general, asked that both North Central and the IAA be ordered to furnish information before the hearings proceed.

Furnish Plans

The airline was asked to furnish its plan for future equipment, its views on maintaining local stops or consolidating them, proposed schedules, and cost savings or losses from consolidating stops. Bowers asked that the IAA furnish costs of improving airports or building new ones, capabilities of existing airports, and federal investment in existing airports.

CAB lawyers proposed similar questions of the airline and IAA and asked each city to describe present and future ground transportation to and from an area airport. Stodola also asked for invested local and state funds, including those committed and in port income from both commercial and general aviation.

In addition to the Wisconsin central Wisconsin airport also Valley cities of Watons Stevens in the case. Other contests will Point Moushild and Wisconsin between Rhinelander - Land Rapids - a citizens committee for Lakes and Ashland Ironwood er street. Residences with septic tanks are blamed for the trouble in those areas. The property on South River Street is owned by Lawrence college.

Raw Sewage Reported Flowing Into Appleton

Moldenhauer said a downhill stream on South River street carries the pollution into a nearby creek and causes an extreme odor.

"I would say we can look for ultimate relief from these isolated city situations, but we don't know what is going to happen in some of the outlying regions," Moldenhauer said.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell recommended that the board of health meet with the council's street - sanitation committee to work out a program for necessary corrections within the city.

D. Marvin S. Kagen, city health commissioner, said immediate action should be taken to correct the flow of sewage into the city from the outlying regions. He suggested legal action, plus assistance from the regional planning commission because the areas in question are outside of the city.

Stevens cited that it was apparent a state statute was being violated by some residents in the Town of Grand Chute. He suggested that town officials or property owners be contacted by the city and requested to take steps to correct the situation. After a time limit if nothing is accomplished, Stevens said, the city could turn the matter over to the district attorney and ask him to prosecute the offenders.

City officials, including Ald. Clifford Radder, said cooperation was not forthcoming from township officials. Moldenhauer said a letter his office sent to the township chairman went unanswered.

Tighter Controls

Kagen inquired why the state board of health permitted people to construct homes with septic tanks in certain areas when it is known that a problem will be created. Stevens said it was his opinion that municipalities lacked adequate building supervision in some instances. He urged tighter building controls on the part of the communities involved.

Dr. Kagen said human contamination flowing into Appleton was dangerous to the health of city residents and detrimental to industry, agriculture and recreation.

"Disease is carried by human sewage and it poses a danger of epidemics," Dr. Kagen warned. The board of health referred the information in the report to the regional planning commission, and instructed the city attorney to take action and proceed on a priority basis by attempting to correct the most serious situations first.

Your best reasons for choosing Vigran multi-vitamins
They learn from their earliest days—from your very care of them—that vitamins are "good for them." Later, in school, they learn why.
But not until much later do they come to know why the name Vigran is such a symbol of assurance in the purchase of vitamins. And the reason is—Vigran is the name of the multi-vitamin preparation from Squibb, and Squibb is one of the best known and respected names in the pharmaceutical industry.
Squibb rigid quality control, including more than 200 quality control tests, is designed to assure you that every Vigran capsule has the full label potency when you take it as it had when it was tested at the laboratory.
This is the reason so many people buy Vigran. And what better reason could you have than your family itself—for whom you naturally want the very best.
At your drug store.

San Juan Hospitals Halt Treatment for Blue Cross Subscribers

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Four San Juan hospitals stopped treating subscribers of the Puerto Rican Blue Cross after the hospitalization plan failed to come up with an acceptable proposal for settlement of a $200,000 debt owed hospitals.

Blue Cross, which has 112,000 subscribers throughout Puerto Rico, said it would send ambulances to transfer its subscribers to four other member hospitals.

Records of the commissioner of Insurance show Blue Cross has been in the red since 1958 and has lost about $500,000 since 1960.

Another health plan, Health Services Insurance, with 100,000 subscribers, said last month it was more than $1 million short because of overutilization of its services and too low premiums.

U. S. Spends More On Goods, Services

BY SYLVIA PORTER

When you buy an automobile, you buy a big chunk of materials ranging from steel to textiles and a big chunk of labor too. Your purchase makes jobs and paychecks for the workers putting the materials together to create a car. It makes jobs and paychecks for all involved in selling and delivering that automobile to you.

When you take your car to the garage for repairs, even the most expensive, you buy the services of a man who needs only a relatively few tools and a mechanic's training to do your auto repair job. Your purchase makes jobs and paychecks for those manufacturing his tools and training him and, of course, it keeps the garage going. But there is simply no comparison between the impact on our economy of your purchase of a big-ticket durable product and a big-ticket service.

Your buying of durable goods gives our economy a much greater spur than your buying of even the most costly service. This holds whether the comparison is between your spending of $1,000 for your child's tuition or medical or your spending of $1,000 for new kitchen appliances or furniture.

Over-all we as consumers are buying more goods, durable and nondurable, and more services than ever before. We're spending at a rate of $355 billion a year today, $17 billion over 1961.

Silver Dollar Skyrockets

But if you're typical of millions of us, the percentage of each dollar you're spending for services has skyrocketed while the percentage of each dollar you're spending for goods has fallen substantially.

At the same time, the price of just about every service you buy has climbed steadily month after month while the prices of many goods you buy have held in a remarkably stable range or declined.

Here — in this dramatically changed pattern of our spending — lies one key explanation for our sluggish rate of growth in recent years.

Or putting it simply because we're spending so much more on services which tend to stabilize our economy rather than spur it and spending so much less on goods which would give our economy a great stimulant, the whole economy has flattened out.

Proof Surrounds Us

The proof is all around us. To give just a few revealing figures:

Item: Of each dollar we had to spend at World War II's end, we spent 68.5 cents for goods, 31.5 cents for services. By 1955, the division was 64 cents for goods, 36 cents for services. By 1960, the split was 59.9 cents for goods, 40.1 cents for services. Today the total of each dollar we're spending on goods is down to 58.8 cents, the total we're spending on services is up to 41.2 cents.

In short, sellers of services have "taken away" from producers of goods almost 10 cents of each dollar we spend—a bite which tells a lot about the employment lag, idle capacity and fierce competition for our dollar in industries across the land.

Item: The cost of the services we have been buying on an ever-widening front has been soaring, meanwhile. During the last decade, prices of services went up twice as fast as prices of goods. Between the late 1940s and mid-1961, the general consumer price index rose 27 per cent but the prices of services in that index jumped 52 per cent. Although the upsurge in service costs is slowing now and in August, medical costs did not show a monthly rise for the first time since June 1954, the trend is still painfully clear. A full 70 per cent of the 12 per cent rise in the consumer price index in the past 12 months is due to increases in service prices—medical costs, repair services, personal care, etc.

Item: A breakdown of our spending for goods and services underlines the shifting pattern. The amount of each dollar we spend is going to more and more expensive medical care has risen from 3.8 cents in 1950 to 5.1 cents while the amount we spend on appliances for the home has fallen from 2 cents to 1 1/2 cents. The amount of each dollar we spend on autos and auto accessories has declined from 7.1 cents in 1955 to 5.1 cents while the amount we spend on private education has increased from under a penny to 1 1/2 cents.

The basic point demands repeating: our rising spending on services helps stabilize our economy but it doesn't spur it as rising spending on goods would. We must curb the rise in service costs. We must adopt policies and programs to expand consumer spending on goods.

Trainmen Preparing To Strike Friday on Baltimore & Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen told the National Mediation Board Tuesday it plans to strike the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at 6 a.m. Friday.

The strike date has been approved by union president W.P. Kennedy. Notification of its strike intentions, stemming from a series of unsettled union demands, was sent by the union to the mediation board in Washington.

In normal procedure in such cases, the mediation board now would step into the dispute and automatically delay strike action for at least 30 days.

Major issues in the dispute involve changes in work rules sought by the union, some of them having been the subject of negotiations since 1957.

The union wants a rule that when helper engines are used they be placed ahead of, instead of behind, cabooses. Also it seeks a union-management conference before any yard or road positions are eliminated.

About 2,500 trainmen would be affected by a strike.

What's up?

Even at 50° above, carburetor ice can stop you cold—but with Conoco gasolines, there's no stop, no stall, no ice at all to cause you trouble.

Fall or winter, ice can form in your carburetor. When it does, it blocks tiny carburetor passages—and when they're blocked, you're stopped cold.

Your friendly Conoco dealer can fix that problem before it fixes you with improved Conoco Premium or Regular gasolines, specially winterized to keep your carburetor clear of ice. Plus a special detergent additive to keep your carburetor clean of dirt for extra mileage, more power, faster starts and smoother idling. Fill up with Conoco gasoline. Whether it's 50° above or down to freezing, there's no stop, no stall, no ice at all to cause you trouble. Another value from your Conoco dealer—a friendly neighbor you can count on.

Vehicle Department Will Make Checks on Conviction Reporting

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The charges about negligence in the filing of driver conviction records from the Milwaukee criminal courts to the state motor vehicle department have brought inquiries about the effectiveness of the law requiring such reporting in 48 hours from all of the court clerks of the state.

Wyngaard

The answer, as far as the motor vehicle department now knows, is that reporting is fairly prompt and accurate although there are isolated cases of gross negligence. In at least one instance, a local court clerk failed to report a conviction involving a fatal accident.

But the department intends to make a more regular inspection of local court conviction records, to check them against its driver license files. Without a reliable and accurate system of reporting, the whole elaborate structure of driver demerit points and driver discipline will obviously crumble.

That there may sometimes be pressure for the delay or mislaying of such records can be imagined. For many drivers the point penalties and the threat of revocation of license is a far more serious consequence than the when it was discovered that O-money fine assessed by the magistrate.

Jack Olson of Wisconsin Dells, who wants to be governor some day, hoped that his vote in the primary election would be sufficiently ahead of other candidates on the Republican ticket to attract some favorable attention to himself.

But he ran behind the other unopposed candidates for nomination, in spite of his higher position on the ballot which is commonly accounted an advantage. There is a well known "drop off" in voting, according to ballot listing.

Robert C. Zimmerman, secretary of state who spends the year around campaigning, again piled up the highest vote Mrs. Dena Smith, the state treasurer, ran second.

Democratic spokesmen are finding it increasingly difficult to restrain their resentment about favoring the national administration to Republicans the license trying to defeat among them and accurate system of reporting, Sen. Wiley and Rep. Alvin O. Kinski of Mercer.

The other day Wisconsin Democratic congressional nominees, including Louis Hansen of Mellen, who is running against Alvin O. Kinski, went to Washington to be photographed with the President for the purpose of campaign build-up. There was some chagrin when it was discovered that O-

Konski had been at the White House an hour earlier, and had been photographed with Mr. Kennedy in the act of receiving the pen with which the president has signed into law an important new act of Congress.

Former Gov. Walter J. Kohler, who did more than any man to bring to reality the long dream of the state welfare department for the construction of a new school for the treatment of delinquent youth, will share the speaking program with Gov. Nelson when the new Kettle Moraine State School is formally dedicated on Oct. 9.

Kohler, who left office in 1956, had hoped that the institution could be completed and dedicated during his own term of office. Although there were some unusual difficulties in the path of the project, the long delay between authorization and completion suggests something about the problems in getting things done in public as distinguished from private affairs.

Attorney General John W. Reynolds, who several months ago indicated that he might propose the elimination of some of the long-permitted deductions from taxable income under the state individual income tax rates as a means of raising more money through income levies, has abandoned that lack.

His tax program as now elaborated proposes only the elimination of the federal tax off-set in the state income tax assessment. That would be an important act, if it is achieved, and would increase the tax liability of Wisconsin individuals by $10 million a year at a single stroke. But the tax equivalent of other exemptions is far greater, and apparently Reynolds concluded that their elimination would be impracticable.

The Republican state organization is quietly sparing some of its energies for the task of electing Republican legislators in key districts, including several one-time Republican districts held by Democrats lately.

Thus there is a special interest being shown in the candidacy of Charles Smith Jr. of Wausau, the Republican nominee for state senator in the Marathon - Shawano county district against Sen. Robert Dean, acting floorleader of the Democratic senate minority in the 1961 legislature. The Republican candidate is the lawyer son of Charles Smith Sr., also an attorney and better known politically as a long-time member of the state conservation commission.

The local schools of vocational and adult education are giving indications that they will press the legislature with new resolve next winter for a greater slice of the state educational budget.

Director C. L. Greiber of the state board has persuaded that group to ask for hugely increased state aids. The rationalization will be that the schools are enrolling more and more students in post-high school programs, and thus saving the state great sums of money that would otherwise be involved in financing enrollments at the state colleges and universities.

To Your Good Health

Skin Tests Range From Finding Allergies to Immunization

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there more than one type of skin test? If so what are the purposes, I know of one case in which Mrs. P.L.P. Yes, there are many kinds. In the one you describe, the test was made to determine whether the patient is sensitive to penicillin. Valuable as penicillin is for treating infections in most of us, some people can be severely and occasionally even dangerously sensitive to this drug. If there is any suspicion of such sensitivity, the wise thing is to test first, instead of giving the drug and finding out afterward that it makes the patient itch or swell.

question is raised about the feasibility of "independent" candidates by public office aspirants who narrowly miss regular party nominations in the primary elections.

This footnote is offered not because it is likely to deter anyone of whose judgment is blurred at a time of keen disappointment after the loss of a close nomination in contest, but because it may be older children? We have a grand-son, 5, who wets the bed almost every night. We see ads that clamor to stop this exasperating habit, but are reluctant to send for anything to do with the present of such efforts can be predicted, them as I was under the impression that there is nothing that can be done except be patient. — R. S."

There's a lot that can be done besides being patient. And I can't agree that 5 years old is "an older child." Older, I agree, than the usual age for having learned to stay dry, but still young compared to some bed-wetters in the early teens — and I've known of cases that went to the age of being drafted for army service even. Yes, extreme cases reach that age.

If it's just an exasperating habit, some of the advertised methods work effectively. But if there is some physical problem involved, treatment is required, not just a change in habits. The difficulty, from various causes, is so frequent that I've stopped trying to discuss it fully in the column, but have written a booklet on the subject for people who need help. It is "Enuresis — Ten Ways to Stop Bed Wetting." (Copies are available to anyone, in return for 20 cents for printing and handling costs, plus a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send requests to Dr. Molner, in care of this newspaper.)

Twitching Eye
"Dear Dr. Molner: Can you shed some light on the twitching or throbbing of a vein directly under my left eye? I have consulted three oculists, none of whom helped me at all. — M.D."

I'd doubt that it has anything to do with vision. It sounds more like a facial tic or transient spasm of muscles.

Police Guarding Governor's House

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — City and state police encircled the governor's mansion here Tuesday in a move to keep law and order in the event of arrival of federal marshals attempting to arrest Gov. Ross Barnett.

Police said there was no indication at 10 a.m. that marshals would make the move but preparations were underway nevertheless.

One source said in the event Barnett were served he would accept the summons and, in effect, fulfill his promise to the voters to go to jail in trying to prevent integration.

Hundreds of Jackson residents and other persons began milling around the historic mansion in downtown Jackson.
